8.6.1.2. The Bank shall not refund the amount of the Payment Transaction if the Payer has authorized the execution of the particular Payment Transaction where the details of such Payment Transaction have been made available to the Payer by the Bank or by the Payee, in a manner which has been agreed, at least four (4) weeks prior to debiting the Payer's Account.

8.6.1.3. The Payer shall not be entitled to a refund of money if he has given the Payment Order directly to the Bank.

8.6.1.4. In the event that the Bank so requests, the Payer shall be obligated to give to the Bank all the information specified in paragraph 8.6.1.1 that substantiates his refund request.

8.6.1.5. Within ten (10) Business Days from the submission of the refund request, the Bank shall refund the amount of the Payment Transaction or shall justify its refusal to refund and shall inform the Payer that he may take such action in accordance with the provisions of paragraph 21 of this Agreement.

8.7. Bank Liability for Unauthorized or Wrongly Executed or Non-Executed Transactions

8.7.1. The Customer should carefully check the balances and statements of his Accounts when such information is made available in electronic or other form. If he becomes aware that a Payment Transaction was not executed or was executed wrongly or without authorization despite the fact that the necessary information for execution of the Payment Transaction in accordance with paragraph 8.1 above is correct, the Customer shall be entitled to restitution as described below, provided that he notifies the Bank in one of the ways mentioned in paragraph 6, immediately and without undue delay within a reasonable period of time, which does not exceed thirteen (13) months from the date that his Bank Account has been debited or credited, as the case may be.

Where the Customer is not a Consumer or a Micro-enterprise, he shall be obligated to notify the Bank for a Payment Transaction that was not executed or executed wrongly or without authorization without undue delay and, at the latest, within two (2) months from the date of debit or credit, as the case may be.

8.7.2. Where the Customer is a Consumer or a Micro-enterprise, in the event that he denies having authorized the Payment Transaction or he disputes the correct execution of the Payment Transaction, the Bank shall bear the burden of proving that the Payment Transaction was authenticated, accurately recorded, entered in the Customer's Account and not affected by a technical breakdown or deficiency. Where the Customer is neither a Consumer nor a Micro-enterprise, the Bank shall not bear such burden of proof.

8.7.3. Subject to the provisions of paragraph 8.7.1 above, if the Payment Transaction was executed without the Customer's authorization, express or implied, and the amount was debited to the Payment Account, the Bank shall be obligated to refund the Customer immediately and no later than by the end of the following Business Day, after being notified of the Payment Transaction, with the amount of the unauthorized Payment Transaction and, where applicable, to restore the debited Payment Account in the state in which it would have been had the unauthorized Payment Transaction not taken place. The Bank reserves the right not to immediately refund where there are reasonable grounds for suspecting fraud.

8.7.4. By way of derogation of paragraph 8.7.3 above, the Customer may be obliged to bear the losses relating to an unauthorized Payment Transaction up to the amount of EURO 50 or equivalent in any currency (or any other amount which may be defined by the Provision and Use of Payment Services and Access to Payment Systems Law of 2018 from time to time) for damage which arises until the Bank is notified in accordance with paragraph 6.13 and paragraph 14 insofar as the damage arises from the use of a Payment Instrument which is lost, stolen or exposed to abuse from third parties. This paragraph 8.7.4. shall not apply if:

- (i) the loss, theft or misappropriation of the Payment Instrument was not detectable to the Customer prior to a Payment Transaction, except where the Customer has acted fraudulently; or
- (ii) the loss was caused by acts or lack of action of an employee, agent or branch of the Bank or of an entity to which its activities were outsourced.

8.7.5. Notwithstanding paragraphs 8.7.3., 8.7.4. and subject to paragraph 8.7.6., the Customer is not entitled to restitution, where losses incurred from Payment Transactions executed by the Customer and/or any person holding a Payment Instrument with the Customer's consent and/or was acting with the express or implied authorization of the Customer or if:

- i) The loss incurred due to the fact that the Customer acted fraudulently, or
- ii) The loss incurred due to the failure of the Customer to use the Payment Instrument in accordance with the terms and conditions governing its use, intentionally or due to gross negligence, or
- iii) The loss incurred due to the fact that the Customer failed to comply with his obligations for the secure custody of the Payment Instrument as per the provisions of paragraph 14, intentionally or due to gross negligence, e.g. if not notifying the Bank of a change of address
- iv) The loss incurred due to a breach by the Customer of one or more of his obligations as stated in the terms and conditions governing the use of the Payment Instrument, intentionally or due to gross negligence, or
- v) The Bank has not been notified for the loss or theft etc. of the Payment Instrument, as per the provisions of paragraph 6.13 and paragraph 14, intentionally or due to gross negligence.

8.7.6. The Account will not be debited for any loss incurred from unauthorized Payment Transactions, in cases where:

- i) the loss incurred due to the use of a Payment Instrument before it has been received and/or activated by the Customer, except where the said non-receipt and/or non-activation is due to the fact that the Bank has not been informed by the Customer of a change of address
- ii) the Customer has notified the Bank of the loss or theft of a Payment Instrument, in accordance with paragraph 6.13. and paragraph 14 of this Agreement, unless he acted fraudulently or
- iii) the Bank failed to provide the appropriate means as per paragraph 6.13 and paragraph 14 in order to enable the Customer to notify the Bank that the Payment Instrument has been stolen or lost, unless he acted fraudulently.

8.7.7. If, following the refund of the amount of the Transaction by the Bank, a relevant investigation subsequently concludes that the Customer was not entitled to that refund and/or reimbursement, the Bank will reserve the crediting and/or will charge the Payment Account with the said amount. The Bank will give the Customer reasonable notice before making any such reversal and/or charge.

8.7.8. Subject to the provisions of paragraph 8.7.1 above:

- (i) the Bank is liable to the Payer for the correct execution of the Payment Transaction where the Payment Transaction is initiated directly by the Payer, unless it can prove to the Payer and, where relevant, to the Payee's Payment Service Provider that the Payee's Payment Service Provider received the amount of the Payment Transaction or part thereof in accordance with the time frames of execution. The Bank shall be obligated to refund the Payer immediately with the amount of the non-executed or defective Payment Transaction and, where applicable, to restore the debited Account to the state it would have been had the defective Payment Transaction not taken place.
- (ii) the Bank is liable to the Payer for the correct execution of the Payment Transaction where the Payment Transaction is initiated by the Payer through a PISP and shall be obligated to refund the Payer immediately with the amount of the non-executed or defective Payment Transaction and, where applicable, to restore the debited Account to the state it would have been had the defective Payment Transaction not taken place.
- (iii) where the Payment Transaction is initiated directly by or through the Payee, the Bank is liable to the Payee when it acts as the Payee's Payment Service Provider for the correct transmission of the Payment Order to the Payer's Payment Service Provider in accordance with the time frames of execution and, in case it was not correctly transmitted, it shall immediately re-transmit the Payment Order. In case of a late transmission of the Payment Order, the amount shall be value dated on the Payee's Payment Account no later than the date the amount would have been value dated had the transaction been correctly executed.
- (iv) The Bank shall be liable to the Payment Service User for which it acts as a Payment Service Provider for a certain Payment Transaction for any charges for which the Payment Service User is responsible and for any interest to which he is subject as a consequence of non-execution or defective, including late, execution of the Payment Transaction.

Irrespective of the liability mentioned above, the Bank, on request, shall make immediate efforts to trace the Payment Transaction and notify the Payer of the outcome.

The Bank does not bear liability or obligation arising from this paragraph, excluding subparagraph (ii), in cases where the other Payment Service Provider involved in the Payment Transaction is located in a non-EEA country.

The Bank does not bear liability or obligation arising from this paragraph where the Payment Service User is not a Consumer or a Micro-enterprise.

8.7.9. It is very important for the Payment Service User to provide a correct Unique Identifier for the proper execution of his Payment Order.

Nevertheless, in the event of incorrect execution, the Bank shall take reasonable steps to recover the Funds which concern the Payment Transaction. Where the recovery of the Funds shall not be possible, the Bank shall provide the Payment Service User, following his written request, all the information available to it, which is important to the Payment Service User, so that he may bring a legal claim to recover the Funds. The Bank may charge the steps for recovering the Funds.

It is understood that the Bank shall not be obligated to refund any amount prior to receiving confirmation of the cancellation of the order by an associate and/or intermediary whom the Bank uses for the purposes of effecting the Payment Transaction. It is provided that if the amount of the Payment Order has been converted in another currency, the Bank shall be obligated to refund the amount of the Payment Order after converting it back to the original currency at the buying rate applicable on the date of crediting the Payer's Account and which is based on the Reference Exchange Rate.
